BIA Remodelers use their skills to help kids

Washougal, WA – The BIA Remodelers, a Council of the Building Industry Association of Clark County, teamed up with Educational Opportunities for Children & Families (EOCF) to paint two modular school buildings in Washougal on Saturday. With the good fortune of a sunny fall day, the crew of about ten prepped, masked and painted two buildings in less than five hours.

Remodelers Chairman Paul McGraw of Spacemaster Construction was pleased to lead this project. “It was a perfect day to be outside doing what we do best and it’s a great feeling to be able to improve the learning environment for these kids.”

EOCF Executive Director Doug Lehrman stated: “The help of the BIA Remodelers was pivotal in completing this important project. As a nonprofit, it can be challenging to come up with funding for all of our facility improvement projects. With the assistance of the community, we are able to put more of our resources into working with our children and their families in classrooms!”

The Remodelers will be painting one more modular building in Woodland as soon as it is ready.

The BIA Remodelers are committed to professionalism in the industry as well as service to the community. The rapidly growing Council consists of over 40 local companies involved in the business of remodeling either directly, or as a sub-contractor, supplier or associate.
